Description (revised)

DOCTOR WHO - CITY OF DEATH

SONIC KNIFE PROP

This auction is for the Sonic Knife prop, used in City of Death to remove the Mona Lisa from the Louvre Museum. It was used in Part 2, as Count Scarlioni demonstrates to the Countess how the robbery is due to take place. Herman the butler used the sonic knife to cut through the glass surrounding the painting before placing the device on the top of the holographic projector.

The prop is approx 30cm in length. The clear perspex handle houses three power cells that would have originally powered the motor housed inside this practical prop, which would have driven round the two Meccano gears at the end (one of which is acting as a cutting wheel). The operating switch that would have sat in the handle is long-since missing. Much of the original decoration in the mid section of the prop (made from silver painted plastic model kit parts) has been lost (the prop was like this when I obtained it many years ago) and a section of the red decoration around the top of the prop has begun to peel away due to old age.

The prop was built by Ian Scoones, the visual effects designer for City of Death and it was given to me by Ian back in 1990, when I interviewed him for the fanzine Proteus. It has been in storage ever since.

A unique chance to own a genuine prop from one of the best Doctor Who stories of all time!

Buyer to pay for postage and packing. Overseas bidders must pay via PayPal if successful.
