DOCTOR WHO - PYRAMIDS OF MARS

DOCTOR'S STELLAR SIGNAL RECEIVER PROP

This auction is for the Doctor's Stellar Signal Receiver prop, as used in the classic 1975 Doctor Who story Pyramids of Mars. The prop appeared in Part 1 of the story as the Doctor verifies the signal received on Laurence Scarman's Marconiscope and decodes the message - Beware Sutekh!

The prop was then reused three years later during the first season of Blake's 7. In the story, Project Avalon, the device is then used by Glynis Barbar as the Mutoid Leader to send a signal to the other groups of Mutoids scattered around the cave system.

The prop is 167mm in length. It has an extendable ariel to the left, a rotating knob which moves a red marker up and down a numbered scale (still working!) and a two-way switch mounted on the top. Despite the orange-coloured lens at one end, this is (and always was) as non-functioning prop.

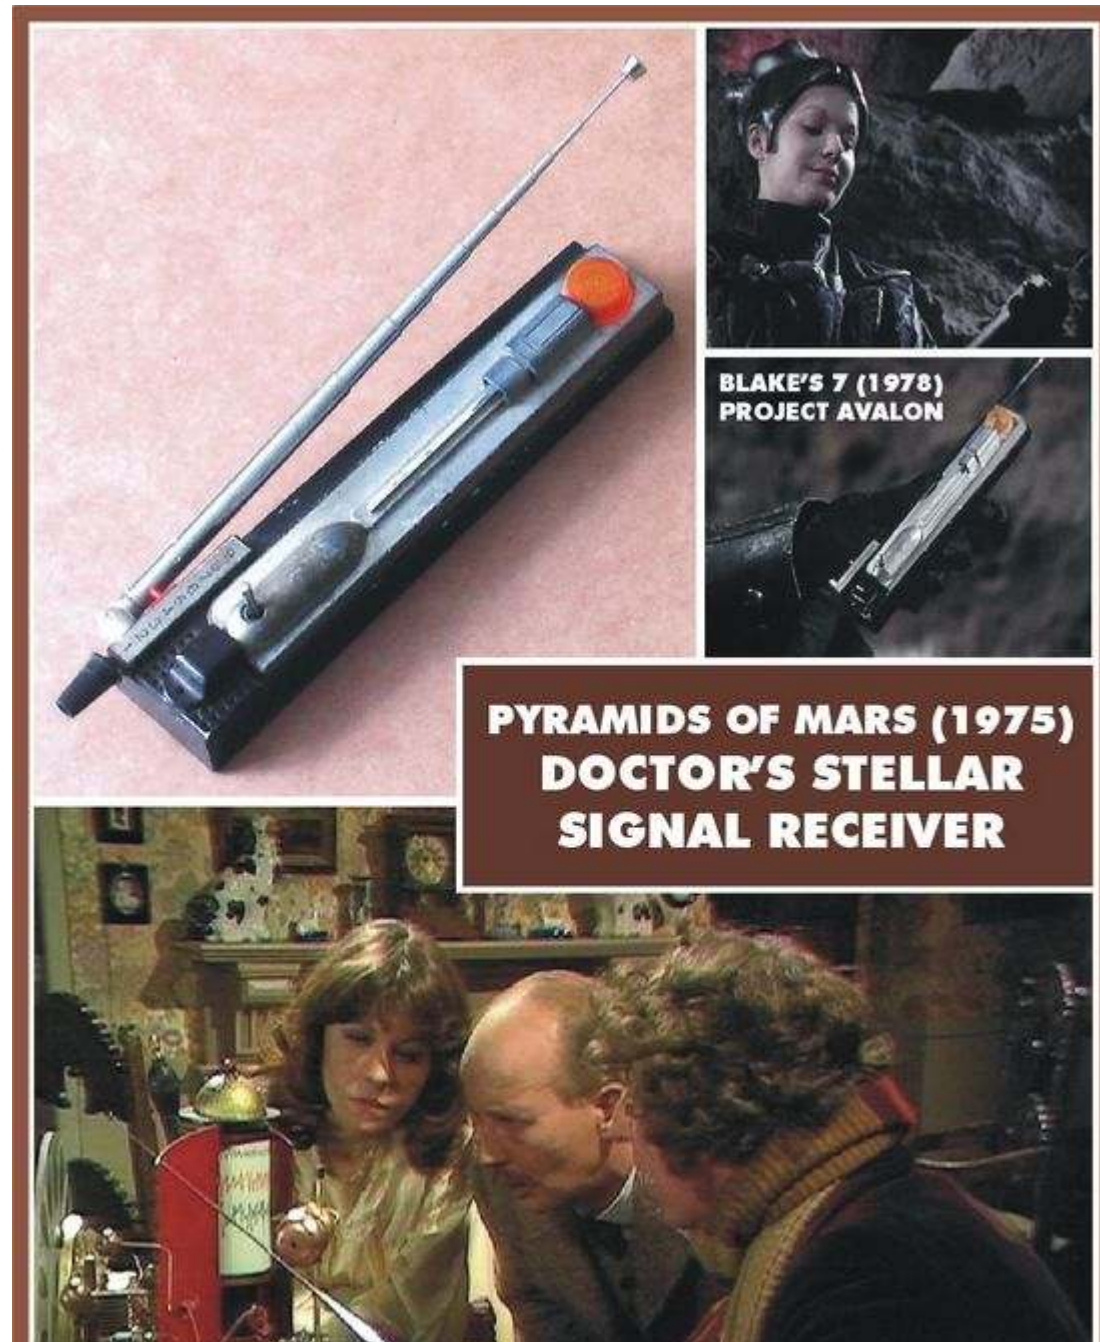

The prop was built by Ian Scoones, the visual effects designer for Pyramids of Mars and it was given to me by Ian back in 1990, when I interviewed him for the fanzine Proteus. It formed part of the original props and costume display at PanoptiCon 93, the large 30th anniversary convention held in London and it has been in storage ever since.

Props belonging to the Doctor crop up VERY rarely so this is a unique chance to own a genuine prop from one of the best Doctor Who stories of all time!

Buyer to pay for postage and packing. Overseas bidders must pay via PayPal if successful.
