Description

13 cm CLOCKWORK DALEK with key

When wound up the dalek moves rapidly across smooth surfaces and turns at intervals to head in a different direction at the same time the head swivels. This British made dalek is constructed from plastic and tin. The "eyepiece" from the top of the head is missing but otherwise the dalek is in excellent condition in both appearance and working. Estimated age 1960's.

To find a dalek of this age that still works is rare so this item is a must for Dr. Who collectors.
